The pre-set Zero Gravity which is the semi Fowler position provides a total support and perfect spinal alignment that distributes your body weight evenly to allow the best rest and recovery position throughout the night.

By using the whole body vibration massage you may experience the benefits of increased circulation throughout your body. You also have the option at a touch of a button to set your favourite position to sleep in, night after night.

The zero gravity setting is based on NASA's discovery of the optimal body position to reduce G Force pressure. Scientists found that this position does more than just reduce pressure, it is an optimal position for the function of your body. That's why Adjusta Mattress decided this was a must on all our products.
