WHAT IS CANNA-OILS BCP?

It is known as Beta-Caryophyllene or BCP Oil. It is a terpene - a compound that can be isolated from black pepper, cloves, cannabis, copaiba, hemp, hops and other medicinal plants. Canna-Oils products are isolated from Cloves. This way, you can experience the benefit of BCP without having cannabis in your system!

WHAT IS IT USED FOR?

May assist in the natural relief of pain, inflammation, anxiety, stress, depression, insomnia, immune system disorders, PTSD, anti-ageing and other disorders.

HOW IS THIS DONE?

By binding directly to the CB2 receptors of your endocannabinoid System (ECS). This brings about balance, known as homeostasis, or the body's state of balance. When the ECS is out of balance, it can negatively impact homeostasis, which can have adverse effects on our physical & mental health. The body is always striving to be in balance, so it can perform optimally.

NB: CBD binds indirectly to these receptors, whereas BCP binds directly, which results in a more enhanced effect. So no need for cannabis here!

WHAT IS THE ENDOCANNABINOID SYSTEM?

The ECS is a cellular communication system, allowing various cells to send signals to others. It helps to regulate and maintain the optimal function of almost ALL bodily systems. Scientists have discovered that BCP directly activates one of the most important Endocannabinoid receptors, known as CB2, mimicking the activity of some endocannabinoids. The activation of these receptors have been demonstrated to influence the following:

- PAIN INFLAMMATION
- MENTAL HEALTH
- SLEEP
- IMMUNE DISORDERS
- ANTI-AGEING
