

Home Modifications

Improving the safety, accessibility and comfort of your home.

Whether it's completing everyday tasks, seeing family and friends or just relaxing, the accessibility of your home can have a big affect on your daily life.

Our Home Modification Services

Home modifications are changes to the structure, layout and fittings in a home to improve access and safety.

For people living with disability and older Australians, home modifications can increase independence and help them make the most of their home.

At Therapy Focus, our experienced Occupational Therapists and Project Managers specialise in complex home modifications. They help people identify the barriers in their home which may be impacting their safety, independence and participation, and work closely with individuals and families to modify and improve their home environment.

How we can help

✓ Bathroom modifications

Level shower access, installation of accessible fittings, slip resistant flooring and redesign of bathroom layouts to accommodate the use of equipment.

✓ Access

Widening of doorways, creation of level living spaces, prescription of appropriate flooring options, landscaping and lifts.

✓ Environmental controls

Heating/cooling, lighting, automated doors, and relocation of electrical points and fittings to enable ease of use.

✓ Installations

Standard and customised ramps and rails, ceiling hoists and tracking, stair lifts and climbers.

✓ Kitchen modifications

Height adjustable surfaces that enable wheelchair access, installation of accessible fittings and redesign of kitchen layouts to increase independence.

You're part of our team

We will consult with you at every stage of the home modification process, including:

- ✓ Assessment
- ✓ Design
- ✓ Preparation of a scope of works
- ✓ Liaison with contractors
- ✓ Sourcing funding
- ✓ Inspection of works

We can also provide support for people who are building a new home and want to make the home accessible for older family members and/or those with disability.
