What are Yoni Eggs?

The Yoni Egg is an egg-shaped crystal that you wear inside your vagina to keep it strong, healthy and toned. The word 'Yoni' translates to 'Sacred Temple' in Indian Sanskrit. We honour, respect and appreciate this ancient tradition for the transformation it offers folks with a vagina.

The stone acts as a weight resistance to tone the pelvic floor muscles, and may assist with bladder control, lubrication, libido and postpartum recovery. We recommend wearing your egg three times a week, for thirty minute intervals (you can wear longer at your own discretion), and not during menstruation.

Dating back 5000 years ago, the Jade Egg was an ancient Chinese Taoist practice that the Queen and her concubines committed to as a way to maintain a healthy & fertile reproductive system. Some of the benefits you may experience are:

- Strengthened pelvic floor muscles
- Improved bladder weakness
- Enhanced vaginal lubrication
- Reduced numbness inside the vagina
- Boosted orgasmic & arousal potential
- Gentle internal sexual healing associated with the crystal properties
- Assists with post-partum rehabilitation and recovery

5 Simple Steps

Step 1: Wash your egg. Before use, wash your egg in warm water (not boiling hot as it may crack the crystal) and sterilize with our Yoni Egg Cleansing Spray or Oil. You can also clean your egg with a dash of apple cider vinegar or lavender oil. You may also like to cleanse your crystal. Do this by placing it under the full moon overnight, leave in the sunshine for 10 minutes, or simply soak in water for 5 minutes with a sprinkle of rock salt or ocean water.

Step 2: Intention setting. Take a few moments to set an intention into the stone before inserting. What would you like to let go of, create, manifest or release whilst wearing your egg?

Step 3: String your egg. If you have a drilled egg, use approximately 30cm of our unwaxed, un-minted string (you can purchase it from our online store) to thread through the holes and tie a knot at the end to secure the string in place.

Step 4: Insertion ritual. Place the larger end of the egg at the entrance of your vagina and take a few slow deep breaths, relaxing your pelvic floor muscles. Imagine yawning your vagina open to welcome the egg inside. Draw circles at the entrance until the egg slides inside. Use coconut oil or your favourite lubricant for an easeful insertion.

Step 5: Do your pelvic floor exercises. Once the egg is in place you can walk around with it inside, do yoga, pilates, meditation or sit down and do a dedicated kegel practice.

For Removal: If you have used a drilled egg, pull on the string, like you would with a tampon to remove. If you have a 'non-drilled' egg, simply squat down and insert a finger to scoop it out. It may pop out when you go to the toilet, so make sure you catch it. If it drops into the bowl, do not flush it. Sterilise in warm water with an essential oil, such as tea-tree or lavender.

Yoni Egg Exercises

Here are our three favourite yoni egg exercises, which help to build energy & juiciness inside the vagina. We also recommend joining The Golden Yoni Membership for Rosie's top Yoni egg practices.

1. PUSS UPS

Lie down on your back and bring your feet underneath your knees. Inhale, raise your hips up and gently squeeze your pelvic floor muscles (the feeling when you stop the flow of urine). Exhale, lower the hips down and relax the yoni muscles. Perform 15 repetitions for 3 sets.

2. CAMEL RIDE

Kneel on the floor, knees wide with your hands on your thighs. Inhale, tilt forward and open up your heart. Exhale, round your back and contract your pelvic floor muscles around the egg as you tuck the tailbone under flexing back. Continue for 2 minutes with deep breathing.

3. SEXY CAT COW

Come into a table top position, your hands stacked under your shoulders and your knees stacked under your hips. Inhale and drop the belly down, tilting the sit bones up to the sky and opening the chest. Exhale as you round your back, tucking your chin into the chest and squeeze the vaginal muscles around the egg. Put on a sexy song close your eyes and practice this for 3 minutes. Breathe deep, let out some sensual sounds & you will feel juicy and alive!
